

CATALOGUE 2023

HEPCO & BECKER

We don't make it easy for ourselves with the cover photos of our catalogues. Of course, we always want to present an up-to-date model, preferably of course in an exciting setting. A double challenge, especially when the motorcycle is fully equipped and ready to ride only shortly before it's done printing. We think we have succeeded well again this year with the Husqvarna 901 Norden.

To present our motorcycles in a good light, to show the details of our accessories in a clearly visible way and to make you want to ride a motorcycle. These are the demands we place on our cover photos. Hans Michael Engelke, experienced photographer and motorcycle journalist, has been travelling all over Europe with our team and our two-wheelers for many years. This not only results in entertaining travel reports for one or two motorcycle magazines, but also regularly produces many photos for our catalogues. And, not insignificantly for us, the going gets tough at times and our accessories have to prove themselves accordingly.

This year's cover was a real challenge. It was taken in the south of the Spanish region of Navarra in the semi-desert of the Bardenas Reales. The surreal landscape, shaped by sun, wind and weather, has its very own desert-like microclimate. And since last summer went down in Spanish annals as one of the hottest on record, this was naturally also reflected in the ochre-coloured landscape of the Bardenas. The photos were taken at well over 40 degrees – without shade. Michael and his partner survived it well. More information about his work for us can be found on Michael's website at www.engelke.tv.

Behind the Hepco & Becker brand are people who are passionate about motorcycling and have turned their hobby into their profession. For many decades, they have formed an enthusiastic team that is always coming up with something new for the motorcycle.

No sooner is a machine on the market than it is on the lifting platform in our development department. With a lot of experience and expertise, accessories are then designed and constructed in our own development steps. After testing and trialling, the production and test gauges are then built. This is followed by series production at short notice.

This is how we always manage to offer our accessories for the new motorcycle models at very short notice. However, this is only possible because behind the formal processes there are motivated employees who use their skills and knowledge every day to make it a success.

In fact, in the many decades of our existence, we have managed to develop accessories for more than 1,000 different motorcycle models that make motorcycling more enjoyable and more pleasant. Hepco & Becker's huge warehouse guarantees that everything is available at short notice. Even for motorcycles built 30 or 40 years ago.

Behind this is less a business model and more a love of motorcycles. And should you not find what you are looking for in our new catalogue, please call or email us. Our expert sales team will provide explanations and help.

For the brand new models that will be released in the course of 2023, you will find our accessories published on our website at www.hepco-becker.de including delivery times and prices.

We look forward to meeting you and wish you an exciting, accident-free 2023.

INTERVIEW WITH PAUL EHRHARDT SENIOR

Paul Ehrhardt Senior, the company's founder, is still driven to put his ideas into practice. Initially a lone wolf, he now has a team around him that shares his philosophy and has kept the company on the road to success for 45 years.

Hepco & Becker has been manufacturing accessories for motorcycles for over 45 years. How has Hepco & Becker managed to be successful on the market over all these years?
We always see ourselves in the position of the motorcyclist and develop accessories that improve the original condition of the motorcycle. This is clearly visible in our first successful product, the closed grease chain case in the seventies. At that time, there were already four-cylinder engines, for example the Honda CB 750 Four, but not yet any durable O-ring chains. Since we ourselves rode several Hondas in our circle of friends, we were fed up with the constant chain lubrication and the dirt on the rims and tyres. Out of necessity, we developed the chain case. At that time, we gave a chain runtime guarantee of 60,000 km, which was sensational and was confirmed by test reports in the trade press.

What distinguishes Hepco & Becker as a company? What do you do differently from your competitors?

We have a very special approach to product development that is cost-effective and fast. That's how we always manage to be on the market very quickly with our accessories for the new motorcycles. We also have a very large warehouse, which ensures a generally high readiness to deliver. And our repair service for emergencies is also reliable and excellent.

How do you manage to keep coming up with ideas and constantly develop new products after such a long time?

Going through the world with open eyes means being inspired by developments and ideas, even outside the two-wheeler industry. Add to that our decades of experience, which allows us to constantly identify gaps in the market and opportunities for new products from the motorcyclist's point of view.

Over the years, you have seen a lot in the motorcycle industry. Which development has surprised you the most?

I was amazed that the motorcycle, which for many years was an absolute niche product, partly for social outsiders, has today experienced this broad acceptance. For me, that was not to be expected for a long time. I still remember earlier conversations with banks. Whenever you mentioned you worked in the two-wheeler industry, the „tie-wearing“ gentlemen would turn up their noses.

What current trend in the industry are you rather sceptical about?

The increased environmental responsibility brings us many surprising, often short-term political decisions. One example is the hasty nuclear phase-out. I fear that the motorcycle could become a pawn, because no one really needs it. Realistically, it is only an environmental burden. I hope, of course, that it will not come to that, because man does not live by bread alone, but very much also by feelings and emotions. We can see this today in the time of isolation caused by the coronavirus pandemic.

You are now over seventy! With the construction of the new hall and the expansion of the production facilities, you have once again made a major investment. What was your motivation here?

Due to the long unresolved succession issue, there was a backlog of investments. Thanks to our new building and the new, ultra-modern production facilities, we are able to manufacture large quantities economically and in top quality. To this day, it is a matter close to my heart to manage Hepco & Becker successfully and thus also to preserve the many jobs in our structurally weak area.

You are still on company premises almost every day. Do you ever think about retiring from the business?

My retirement will come, because in life everything has its time. That's why, as long as my creative power allows me, I try to get as much as possible off the ground so that I can hand over a cultivated field to my successors.

You are a passionate motorcyclist. Do you still get enough out of it and which is your „favourite motorcycle“? And why this one in particular?

I have to admit that I haven't ridden a motorcycle that much in recent years. I still ride to some extent, but there's no comparison with earlier times. But I can say that I have ridden several hundred thousand kilometres in my lifetime and have travelled to many distant countries. One particular motorcycle that has grown on me is my rebuilt Honda CB 500 Four. Of course, the new motorcycles are objectively much better, but I still love riding it because it embodies a piece of the glorious past.

HEPCO & BECKER

INTERVIEW WITH PAUL EHRHARDT JUNIOR

Was it clear to you from the beginning that you would be on board at Hepco & Becker? What is your educational background?

Looking back, my educational background is based on that. I was not aware of this at the respective stage of my career path. Initially, it was not my goal to continue my father's life's work. My parents gave me every freedom and did not push me in any direction. I am very grateful for this. Over time, I realised that I definitely wanted to do something varied, concrete and challenging.

After primary school, I initially attended a regional school, although I was not prevented from going to a grammar school. It was a conscious decision, as local proximity and my enjoyment were important to me.

This was followed by my Abitur at a business grammar school. Afterwards I did an apprenticeship as a tool mechanic, deliberately not in my father's company, which I still benefit from today. At that time I was still unsure about a course of study, but then decided on a cooperative, practice-oriented degree in industrial engineering. Here I was able to deepen and expand knowledge I had already acquired. What's more, I had a lot of fun doing it. I then joined Hepco&Becker as a management assistant.

Do you and your father have a clear division of responsibilities or do you tend to approach tasks and decisions together?

A clear division of responsibilities for our daily tasks is enormously important. It's good that we have a shared office, so you get a good idea of what is going on in the background. For many years, my father was firmly at the helm. We are currently undergoing a transition phase. The challenge is to gradually hand over tasks and be able to transfer responsibilities. When it comes to overriding issues, we always coordinate as a team, including with the senior staff.

What distinguishes a Hepco & Becker product?

Our enthusiasm for motorcycles is unbridled. We develop and produce our products out of this emotion. This passion results in the high, self-imposed standards with regard to the quality, functional design and durability of every Hepco & Becker product. It is important to us that we create products that are directly perceived as a quality product due to their features and also confirm this impression in use. Furthermore, we strive to offer products at a fair price and to deliver them as quickly as possible in the long term.

What makes Hepco & Becker special as a company?

Hepco & Becker has its feet firmly on the ground. We are not growth-oriented, but we like to take on challenges. As an owner-managed company with flat hierarchies, our success is based in particular on the fact that we employ many good, long-term employees. A lot of experience is bundled in them, which flows into the production of our products every day.

What I also find special is that we, as a medium-sized company, manage to offer this product range at this high level of quality. This is only possible thanks to reliable partners and employees who share our philosophy.

Which motorcycle of the last few years sends you into raptures?

I have been a two-wheeler enthusiast for as long as I can remember. Whether with or without an engine, I am fascinated by the possibility of getting around on two wheels. I believe that especially in our industry, product emotionalisation plays an outstanding role. And I like to be inspired by that. I am not more or less attracted to any one type of motorcycle and think that the variety of models has its raison d'être. Well-known motorcycle manufacturers, for whose models we also offer accessories, also manage to awaken new needs in me time and again due to the diversification of their model range.

On my father's side, the Honda brand arouses emotions, because it all started with a Honda CB750. I'm a big fan of the new Honda CMX1100 Rebel. The Japanese concept and the price-performance ratio convince me.

What can we expect from Hepco & Becker in the future in terms of new products?

The design and development process of our products never stands still. We still have a few surprises up our sleeve for the current year in our „soft luggage“. In addition, model-specific product development, for example protective parts or luggage carrier solutions, hardly leave us a moment's peace. The challenge is to do justice to the vehicle design and at the same time to the high utility value as fixed variables of a development.

Paul Josef Ehrhardt, son of the company founder, has been another driving force in the company since 2011.

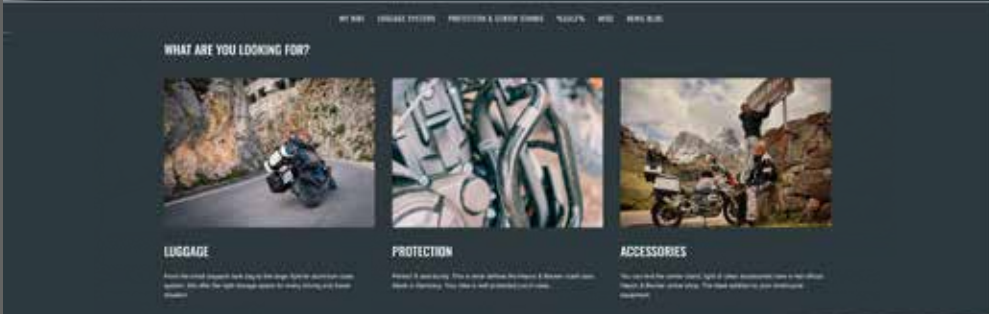

Together with his father, they are the guiding, entrepreneurial decision-making authority.

@HEPCOBECKER

HISTORY OF THE COMPANY

Hepco&Becker, a name that guarantees quality and stands for service for motorcycles. The one-man operation was founded in 1973 by engineer Franz Becker, who was involved in a fatal motorcycle accident in 1975. The business was continued and developed into a medium-sized company by young student Paul Ehrhardt. Its production in the early days involved essential metal parts.

1984 marked the takeover of hard-shell case production by Hepting & Co. from Stuttgart Feuerbach and the foundation of Hepco&Becker GmbH as the continuation of Franz Becker GmbH. Hepting was once one of the largest suitcase manufacturers with more than one thousand employees in Germany. In the seventies and the beginning of the eighties, Hepting manufactured thousands of motorcycle cases for BMW and Krauser.

Thanks to in-house case production, Hepco&Becker successfully provided new, attractive products and assumed a leading role on the market. Whilst a number of competitors have disappeared, Hepco&Becker has managed to remain successful to this day. The rhino became a key concept for the Hepco&Becker brand.

It represents independence and robustness, power and durability, just like every item that comes out of the Hepco&Becker establishment. The rhino has high loyalty values for many motorcyclists as it is not so easy to dissuade thanks to a certain stubbornness. Sustainability and reliability are, to this day, values which shape and define day-to-day business at Hepco&Becker.

THE COMPANY TODAY

Hepco&Becker is a globally active, medium-sized company and a major manufacturer of motorcycle accessories with a brand profile. Motorcycles have been upgraded and customised with model-specific products for over 45 years now, and we employ approx. 80 people at our site in Pirmasens. Customers from over 60 countries appreciate the quality and variety of the Hepco&Becker product range. Regardless of in which country you are travelling:

The Hepco&Becker brand is renowned for its genuine pledge to provide long-lasting and quality accessories. Hepco&Becker has grown sustainably since its founding, and combines traditional model diversity with innovative, high-quality products "Made in Germany". Components and carrier systems for over 1,000 motorbike models have been produced over the years. Small series of products can even be produced for classic and newer models. We can also manage specific requests from customers.

All our employees are motivated with a passion for bikes, based on their crucial, individual role in the company.

Our commitment is to ensure employment in the region, sustain eco-friendly production and to conduct respectful working relationships. Future-oriented investments are made in training young people who will benefit from the vast experience of our long-term employees. We implement a flat, hierarchical corporate structure and ongoing employee training to also serve the personal and professional development of each individual.

This is how we encourage an innovative spirit and the creativity to develop new products. This creative power forms the basis to expand our product range. At the same time, we strive to meet the high demands in terms of quality and products of our customers. Hepco&Becker is your "one-stop shop". This enables optimal networking between individual departments.

A production/warehouse area, with a surface area of 1800 square metres will enable us to invest in the most modern tube processing machines and welding technology.

Our logistics and warehouse management departments also need extra capacity for the thousands of items.

PRODUCTION

It is only the combination of skilled workers and highly efficient machines that bring a product on its way that is worthy of customer requirements and areas of application all over the world. Completely made in Germany, thanks also to German suppliers of the raw materials, articles of daily use with high demands on design are produced.

The ability to supply exclusive small series is more important to us today than ever before. It also carries the idea of a sustainable corporate philosophy if motorcycles and accessories are kept alive and valued over all these years. Therefore, with our Hepco & Becker Classic products, we offer luggage carriers for old and young alike even after more than 45 years. This requires know-how and a great deal of knowledge on the part of our employees, who realise this small-series production at today's increased level of quality with a great deal of expert craftsmanship. The experience of each employee is reflected in the final product. The raw materials are processed in a conventional way, as workshop production or in a highly mechanised, industrial way. In this way, customer-specific special orders can also be realised with great attention to detail.

In a section of the new premises, production now takes place on the most modern machines in the industry. Tube blanks are first pre-cut to the correct contour by a partially automated tube laser, before they fall onto the conveyor belt for further processing every second. Burr-free and true to size, the tubes are then shaped on the tube bending machine before being welded onto the new KUKA welding robot with 2-cab equipment.

The high fitting accuracy of the add-on parts is very important and is ensured by the new advanced production. The use of additional inspection gauges in the subsequent quality control, which precedes the surface finishing, makes this dimensional accuracy possible even in larger production series.

INTERVIEW WITH NILS ARNOLD

Who decides and what criteria are used to decide which product is developed for which motorcycle at your company?

Basically, we try to make decisions as a team, because each of us has different strengths and can contribute a lot of experience. Another important indicator for us is the motorcycle market or the vehicle manufacturers, who are always bringing new, very interesting models onto the market, for which we can of course offer luggage solutions and protective equipment. There is a clear motto for us: „Yesterday’s customer is and will remain our customer of tomorrow!“ That is why we partly also develop products for niche vehicles and exotics or concentrate on special requests of individual customers. Due to our handcrafted manufacture, we also always manage to economically produce small and very small series that we can offer to our customers. In addition, due to growing globalisation, we have many national importers worldwide, with some of whom we have a long-standing, cooperative partnership. We always work very closely together and regularly exchange information.

A new motorcycle model arrives at your company for which you want to develop a crash bar. How long does it usually take until it is developed and after how long can the customer buy it online or in the shop? Please describe the development process.

There are four to six weeks between the idea and the finished product. In this time, we usually manage the development and can deliver series parts to the customer.

As soon as a motorcycle is on the lifting platform in our development workshop, we start right away! We are a well-coordinated team of mechanics and designers who work hand in hand. Together, we discuss design and execution, and then the practitioners begin to expose the attachment points on the motorcycle, determine fastening materials such as screws and sleeves, and already set up the production machines. In the meantime, the CAD system is used to create the first designs of folded steel lugs, which are produced and screwed on as prototypes on our machines. The supreme discipline is steel tube bending! This requires a lot of experience, because based on the design idea, we program the machines for this freely by hand. This is followed by documentation and the careful creation of assembly instructions. Finally comes the specification of the determined data of this prototype as well as the production of the welding and testing gauges that are needed for series production. Last but not least, we create professional pictures in our in-house photo studio, which are used for the subsequent presentation in our online shop and catalogue.

What is particularly important to you when developing new products?

That varies greatly and of course depends on the product in question. Since we are all motorcyclists ourselves and are on the road a lot, we can incorporate our own experiences. First and foremost, there is always the practical use and functionality, as well as the question of whether we would also bolt it to our own motorcycle. We do not develop products that we are not convinced of ourselves! The high and constantly growing quality demands of our customers as well as our competition also spur us on to develop creative ideas for new products and to remain innovative.

How, if at all, has product development changed at your company in recent years – keyword digitalisation?

Some say „standing still is going backwards“ and we here in the Palatinate say „cobble, stick to your last“. I think it’s the right mix that makes the difference. There are processes and procedures that develop and become entrenched over time. With the multitude of our constant product developments, we need precisely this continuity in order to be able to cope at all. Of course, we use modern techniques such as CAD systems, document and digitalise much more than before and invest in modern production machines again and again. This makes us very efficient; we work at a high level of quality and we can produce economically. But we also know that a system always depends on the respective user. That’s why we value our many good and reliable employees.

Do you test your products yourselves in the long run? Do you get regular feedback from your customers?

Yes, we test our products ourselves and have also developed and defined internal test standards for this purpose, which make it possible to simulate the results of years of continuous use in a very short time. In addition, we have a very extensive fleet of fully equipped vehicles that we drive ourselves or make available to our test drivers, neutral editors and recently also our influencers.

Customer feedback is very important to us and is also taken seriously. If there are problems with a product or the customer has questions, we help quickly and without complications. This is also regularly confirmed to us.

Nils Arnold has been with the company since 2011 and is the contact person for technology at Hepco & Becker. As part of the team, he heads the development department and is therefore largely responsible for new products.

HEPCO & BECKER

INTERVIEW WITH MATHIAS DZEMSKI

What specifically is your job at Hepco & Becker? What do you do?

I am responsible for the distribution of our products at home and abroad and lead the sales team, which is divided according to regions.

How do you manage to supply motorcyclists worldwide with your products?

In Germany and Austria, this works via the specialist motorcycle and accessories trade and our own online shop. There, customers can choose the articles they are interested in and order them right away.

Outside of these two countries, we work with importers in more than 70 countries who supply our products to the local specialist dealers or directly to the end customers. Most of our importers also have their own online shop and also have the most common parts in stock or order them if they do not have something in stock. The delivery times are usually very short and the customers can therefore always be supplied with our products as quickly as possible and also have a regional contact person.

What do you think is the reason why your accessories are appreciated by so many motorcyclists worldwide?

On the one hand, it's because Hepco & Becker has been on the market for over 45 years and customers already know the brand or have seen or read about it somewhere. Be it through acquaintances or the many tests with excellent results in motorcycle magazines. On the other hand, it's also because our products are always changing and there is always something new. In addition, we offer something for pretty much every model. That's why our customers keep coming back to us. Well, and of course also because of the proven quality of our products.

Are your customers' expectations of your products the same all over the world?

The expectations regarding the quality of workmanship and the accuracy of fit are very high worldwide, regardless of the country. That's a good thing! It's not for nothing that we have a very high standard ourselves and of course we always want to live up to it. Our customers regularly confirm that we manage to do so.

Are there certain articles that sell particularly well in certain countries?

The demand for our products varies greatly from country to country; even within Europe, there are big differences between the countries. Tastes are quite different. In South America and Australia, for example, the trend is clearly more towards enduro tours, while in Spain, France and Italy, for example, cafe racers have a large share.

How do you ensure that your customers all over the world always feel well looked after following their purchase?

This is largely ensured by our country-specific importers, who continue to be there for all customers even after their purchase. Communication in their own language is important for many customers. But customers often make contact with us directly in Pirmasens. For us, it is a matter of personal pride to ensure that we always help them as best we can.

Your website and your online shop are quite extensive. Is it accessible to all customers worldwide or does it „only“ run offline in some countries?

The shop is accessible to all customers, but only customers from Germany, Austria and countries where we don't have an importer can place an order directly. All others can add products to their basket and send it to us with the click of a mouse button. We then forward it as an email to the respective importer, who then contacts the customer directly.

You ride a motorcycle yourself. Do you have your own motorcycle or do you prefer to use the Hepco & Becker fleet? With which motorcycle would you most like to visit a distant importer?

That's right! In this line of business, it's an advantage to be able to put yourself in the customers' shoes and know what they're talking about and what they want. At the moment I use the Hepco & Becker fleet. Unfortunately, sometimes I ride a little less than I would like, because time is almost always of the essence.

There are simply too many places to go. The best thing would be to go around the world on a motorcycle, as every country has its own charms and we have excellent relationships with all our importers.

Mathias Dzemski has been with the company since 2011 and is now responsible for all sales activities.

Whether at home or abroad, Mathias and his team ensure that Hepco & Becker articles are available worldwide.

INTERVIEW WITH DANIEL OLIVEIRA

Daniel, what are your tasks at Hepco&Becker?

My tasks at Hepco & Becker are very diverse. In addition to the video productions, I support the German-speaking dealers, take their orders and help them with questions. I also always have an open ear for the concerns of private end customers. I am very happy to advise interested parties who would like to find out more about our range of products for their motorcycles at our factory outlet. The organisation and implementation of trade fair events and training courses is also part of my job. All in all, a very exciting and varied job.

How, when and why did you become part of the Hepco & Becker team?

I joined the team in January 2019. I have been working in the motorcycle industry since 2015. During a factory tour together with my trainees from my former employer, I immediately felt at home at Hepco & Becker. Both the team and the products convinced me right from the start, so when I got home I immediately applied for a job. And here I am ...

Where does your enthusiasm for motorcycles come from?

I have been interested in motorised two-wheelers since I was a child. My father was not entirely innocent, because for as long as I can remember, there were motorcycle magazines in my parents' house for me to read and marvel at. By the time my father's first motorcycle found its way into our garage, I was hooked. Of course, that's why I've been riding since I was 18 and enjoy the freedom of being on a beautiful country road. The sound of a motorcycle fascinates me to this day and I always catch myself turning my head to look when a two-wheeler passes me by.

In your videos, you are literally brimming with excitement for your products. What do you think makes Hepco & Becker products so outstanding?

My first motorcycle, which I bought second-hand, had a luggage system from Hepco & Becker. It's now over 30 years old and still works perfectly today! I still have the bike and the luggage rack. It is precisely this lasting quality that inspires me. Ever since I started working at Hepco & Becker, I see for myself how much passion goes into developing, producing and selling these products. And all this in Germany, in our beautiful Southwest Palatinate!

Do you also receive direct feedback from your customers regarding your videos? How do you react to it?

Of course, our customers also react to our videos. They ask questions about solutions for their machine or express wishes about the content of new videos. Our end customer team and I are of course happy to answer these questions and respond to requests. We contact them in writing or by telephone.

You have a few „treasures“ in your garage yourself. What are they and which motorcycle are you still missing in your collection?

My first motorcycle was a Suzuki GN 250, as already mentioned, including a complete carrier and case from Hepco & Becker. I never wanted to sell it, so it's still lying dormant in my garage waiting to be restored. I also have a Ducati Scrambler 800 Icon and a ,95 Ducati 750 SS, which are ready to ride. I just love the sound of the two-cylinder! For the city and for fetching bread, I have a lovingly restored ,72 Simson Schwalbe. What I'm really missing is a touring enduro for longer trips.

MAKING OF

ACID-TEST OUR PRODUCTS

We are passionate about motorcycling and rave about the experiences associated with it – not least because of this we take every opportunity to be out and about on our machines. In addition to our passion, there are also plenty of practical reasons for this. One of the most important is our tests. Sure, thanks to decades of experience, we know about the durability and reliability of our products. But we don't rely on that. We regularly go out on the road, on gravel or off-road. That's where our parts must prove themselves! On more than one occasions, there has been a motorcycle has been lying on its side or an engine guard lifted – it happens when off-roading. That's good! Afterwards, we take a close look at the parts. Only through these tests under real conditions can we be sure that we are not just producing parts for show or decoration, but actually offering something useful for the motorcycle. Incidentally, we are particularly fond of fording. The wilder and deeper the water, the better. If the contents of the Xtravel soft luggage are still dry afterwards, we've done everything right.

Motorcycle-mad French policemen

Oh, and by the way – we take a lot of photos on our tours, which can take us all the way to Andalusia or southern Italy. These then find their way into the catalogue, flyers, social media and enhance our website. As much fun as the whole thing is, sometimes it turns into a real back-breaking job. Like our catalogue cover photo this year. While lightning shot out of the clouds and buckets of rain pelted down on the journey along the Camino de Santiago across the Pyrenees, it got hotter with every metre on the southern side of the mountain range. In Pamplona, the capital of Navarre, we cracked the 40 degree mark and barely a hundred kilometres further on, in the desert of the Bardenas Reales, the thermometer even showed a crisp 44 degrees. Now imagine what a photo job looks like: get off the bike, take off helmet and jacket, take photos, get dressed, get back on the bike, stop again and do it all over again many times. All for one purpose: the perfect picture. And when you see the results and are satisfied with yourself and the bike, then you are reminded what you are doing it for. It's more than just a job or a hobby – it's a way of life and enthusiasm for our products.

THE PROXIMITY OF OUR COMPANY HEADQUARTERS

What an undignified end. Attila, the mighty ruler of the huge army of the Huns, dies in a drunken stupor on his own wedding night, presumably from a haemorrhage. Whether it was actually the alcohol that killed him, as is often claimed, or whether his newly-wed wife Ildico may have helped a little, is still a matter of debate among scholars today. What is relatively certain, however, is that the Lord of the Horsemen met his end in the year 453 in the middle of the Bliesgau. In that lovely landscape, which with its hilly orchards, dense forests, idyllic villages and wide views is not called the "Tuscany of Saarland" for nothing. According to legend, Attila was to be buried on one of these hills after his death. Along the valley of the Blies, a Hunnic troop of 16 men marched with the golden coffin to the Bettelwald near Ommerheim, just west of present-day Blieskastel. No one knows exactly where the pallbearers buried their chief. After their return, they were summarily beaten to death so that no one would be able to betray the location – rough customs in those days in the Bliesgau.

Today, things are much more peaceful around Blieskastel. The small baroque town with its historic centre is the ideal starting point for us to explore the Bliesgau and its interesting surroundings. Along the gently rippling Blies, I steer the Honda south past the Großer Kahlenberg. At 401 metres, it is the highest elevation in the Bliesgau and is considered a regional hiker's paradise. The country road, which is hardly used, winds wonderfully between Gersheim and Altheim through the hilly country at its feet. The little river Bickenalb, not much more than a meadow stream, leads us further south. At some point, the road surface suddenly changes, the road markings look a little different; these are the only indications of a border crossing.

We find ourselves in France, in the Département Moselle. The Bliesgau is an international, transnational landscape in the middle of the greater Saar-Lor-Lux region. As is well known, it was not always as harmonious as the European region presents itself today – Fort Casso, no less, bears witness to this. In the midst of the wonderful open Lorraine plateau, through which we are now enthusiastically driving, the well-preserved fortifications of the former Maginot Line rise abruptly near Rohrbach-les-Bitche. The defensive wall was once intended to protect France against a German invasion. I let the Africa Twin roll out in front of the fort's mighty bunker. Normally, the old bunkers and quarters can be visited underground. Today, however, it is a private party; an official event, we are told in a friendly manner, and we are welcome to visit again tomorrow, when there will also be guided tours through the well-preserved complex.

No problem, the lush green landscape under the cheerful and sunny sky of Lorraine is more to our liking today than the cold grey under the ground. So we turn west, heading for the Saar. With a detour along the riverbank, we soon arrive in Sarralbe. Visible from afar, the landmark of this inviting little town, which is called Saaralben in German, is the "Saar Cathedral". With its two mighty towers over seventy metres high, the Church of St. Martin lives up to its nickname. Right next to it, Kiki and I order two delicious cafés au lait at the Café de la Marie.

Our question in rough French about something sweet to go with it is answered with a grin in perfect German by the friendly waitress. We are of course curious and ask. She learned German at school, and so close to the border there is naturally plenty of opportunity to practise, the young woman says. Hurray for international understanding! Kiki and I can still remember the times when we not only had to prove our modest knowledge of French on the other side of the border, but also had to exchange German marks for French francs in order to buy the coffee in the first place – which, by the way, was no less than twenty years ago.

A little later, freshly fortified, we are back on the Honda and follow the Saar, which leads us out of Sarralbe. We quickly roll along the N61 towards the south, and at Sarre-Union we turn left in a large arc towards the northern Vosges. Sarre-Union, what a varied history this little town has. Once French, then part of the German Empire, French again after the Treaty of Versailles, then again assigned to the German Empire before finally reverting to France in 1944. Today, by the way, the small community not only belongs to the Bliesgau, but also to the so-called "Crooked Alsace", in Alsatian "'s Gromme Elsass". The hilly area forms the extreme north-western corner of Alsace.

Fort Casso

Saargemünd

BETWEEN BLIES AND BITCHE

East of the Saar, the “Circuit des Vosges du Nord” welcomes us. Together with the “Circuit Touristique Franco-Allemand”, the themed road presents itself as an attractive tourist route through the northern Vosges. And so it only takes a few minutes to cross the border into the Northern Vosges Regional Nature Park. La Petite Pierre, the idyllic village on a mountain ridge, emerged from the former settlement of Lützelstein Castle. For Kiki and me, it is always the starting point for our Alsace tours and many other excursions far into France. This is the geographical border between the Bliesgau and Alsace. Reason enough to head slowly but surely north again today.

about all these different names for the various regions, I would like to point out that the corner where we have just come out near the village of Bitche is also called the Zweibrücker Westrich. Good for those who can understand all this.

Visible from afar, the mighty citadel of Bitche rises high into the sky. Situated on a plateau above the town, the mighty fortress is today considered an important historical monument of the country. Once a medieval castle, an almost impregnable citadel was built from its remains around 1680. The famous general and master builder Vauban, creator of no less than 33 fortifications, delivered one of his many masterpieces here. Of course, we wouldn't miss a visit to the impressive bulwark. A look behind the walls is well worth it. The film about the history of the fortress, produced with more than 700 extras and shown in the catacombs of the fort, and the museum, which was redesigned a few years ago, offer an enormously impressive overview of the events of the last centuries around the fortress. The subsequent tour of the fortress walls is particularly good for our motorcyclists' legs, and we quickly recover the calories we have burnt with a delicious piece of cake in the cafeteria of the fortress.

While we were still able to enjoy the wide views and panoramas on the hills of the Bliesgau, the landscape changes very quickly in the Northern Vosges Nature Park. The landscape is almost predominantly densely forested, valleys become narrower, the peaks of the surrounding mountains higher. Like a strobe light, the sun flashes through the overhanging branches of the densely leafy trees just beside and above the roadway. Apart from a short and fast section on the D919, fox and hare say good night to each other here on the back roads of the Wasgau. Wasgau is the name of the landscape of the Northern Vosges into the Palatinate Forest. And to add to the confusion

We soon set off again along a beautiful section of the Circuit Touristique Franco-Allemand towards the German-French border. Via Breidenbach, we take a relaxed and winding route on hardly used side roads to Dorst, and a few minutes later Kiki and I cross the border again at Riedelberg. Only a lonely building, which used to be the border station, reminds us that we are crossing a national border again.

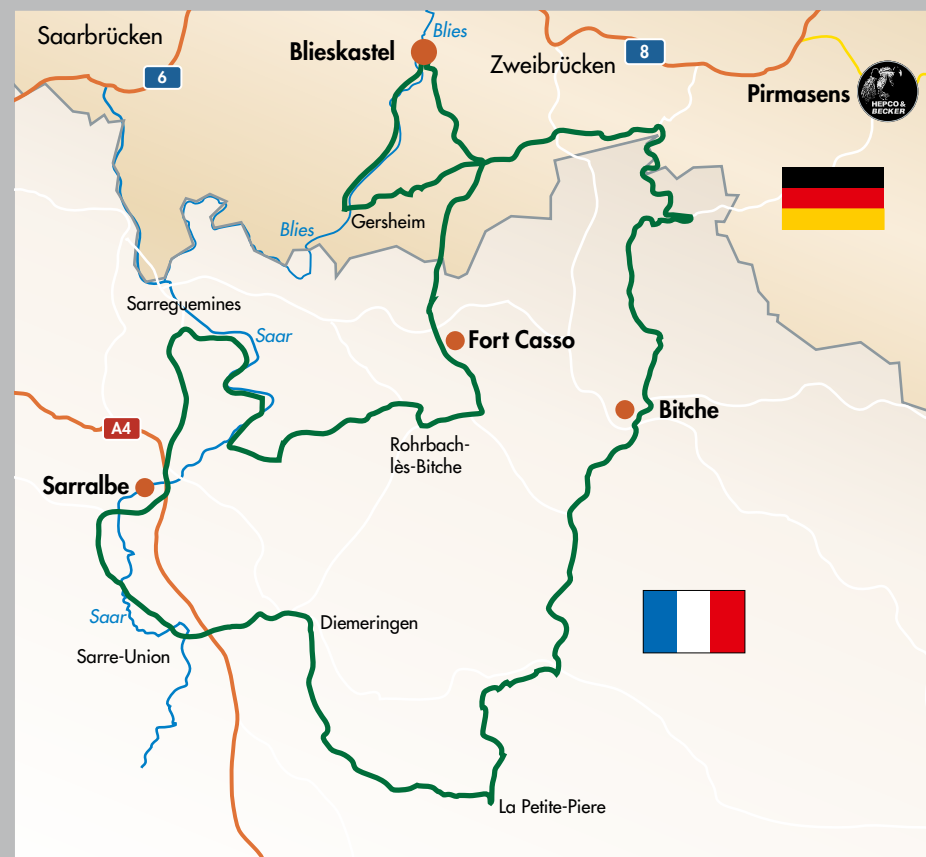

Actually, from here, just a few more quick kilometres across Hornbach, past the eastern slopes of the Großer Kahlenberg, we crossed the city limits of Blieskastel again. But we save a special treat for the end – a visit to the motorcycle specialists at Hepco & Becker. The ride via Bottenbach takes less than a quarter of an hour and we are already rolling out in the Winzeln district of Pirmasens. There are always a few fully equipped motorcycles worth seeing in the foyer of the accessory professionals, the competent advice is convincing and those who buy one or two parts for their motorcycles can even have them fitted right here in the workshop – the perfect one-stop shop.

The final spurt via Riedelberg to Blieskastel, the start and end of today's round trip, is quickly completed. We end the day in the evening with the "Kasteler Krankheit". This is not something contagious or dangerous, but simply the idleness of the Blieskastel citizens. And the alleyways of the beautiful old town offer plenty of opportunities for this. Our tip: the "Alt Schmid" in Kardinal-Wendel-Straße. Not only do they serve delicious Saarland-Palatinate specialities and crispy tarte flambée, but also the dark and spicy Blieskasteler Klosterbräu – cheers!

ENVIRONMENTALLY FRIENDLY AND SUSTAINABLE MANAGEMENT

At Hepco & Becker, we stand by our honest promise to bring only durable, high-quality products to the market, worldwide and at all times. Early on in our company's forty-year history, it was important to us to carefully balance ecological and economic concerns and to bring them into a sensible relationship. Sustainability is more than just a buzzword for us – we embody it and see ourselves as responsible for people and nature today and in the future.

Our strategy is not only to strive for economic sustainability, but also to focus on environmental and socio-ecological sustainability. This already begins with the development and manufacture of our products. This includes short distances, the reduction of material and energy consumption as well as nature-friendly material cycles and waste avoidance. For example, we conserve valuable resources by using our own solar power, recycle production residues externally using a sophisticated recycling concept, and strive not only to comply with recognised environmental standards in production, but also to exceed them.

We also ensure the sustainability and longevity of our products through our qualified, fast and widely praised repair service. We keep our products „alive“. Defective components are largely replaced or repaired by us. Nothing is more environmentally friendly and efficient than maintaining existing parts. The production process of our leather and its control are also important factors for us. First and foremost, we require species-appropriate animal husbandry and expect the leather to be tanned in full compliance with European environmental standards. We also make progress with many small steps. For example, we offset CO2 emissions caused by our paper consumption by participating in a climate protection project in Brasilia. This saving alone would be enough to circumnavigate the globe several times by motorcycle.

SOCIAL AND HUMAN RESPONSIBILITY

Hepco & Becker is a globally active, medium-sized company and a major manufacturer in the field of motorcycle accessories. For 45 years now, motorcycles have been upgraded and personalised with our model-specific products. We currently employ around 80 people at our site in Pirmasens. We place great importance on ensuring that the people who manufacture our products are paid fairly. Therefore, we demand from our producers and suppliers that they pay their employees appropriately too. Respect and decency dictate that people should be able to live from their work and find socially acceptable working conditions. Our employees should not only be able to perform their work safely, but also remain healthy. We stand by our special responsibility towards our employees, which does not end at the factory gate. It is also important for us to be involved in local associations and to provide financial support for children's and youth work.

XPLORER CUTOUT SET

Set of cases and side carrier - high volume - less width - more value

Xplorer Cutout

This exclusive set for assorted models consists of a model specific stainless steel side carrier and two Xplorer aluminum cases. Due to its recessed 37 liter Xplorer case on one side the case is close to the bike.

On the other side is a special 40 liter Xplorer case. With this combination the width is reduced and the bike looks symmetrical from the back. It does not interfere with the stability of the bike due to the center of gravity being so close. The cases are made of shock resistant plastic molding and anodized aluminum sheets. The black version is powder coated additionally.

The side carrier is made of 2mm strong stainless steel pipe with 16mm in diameter. The surface is electro polished. The system is light and stable, perfectly for offroad use.

Tool Box

The robust, completely waterproof toolbox, made from shock-resistant plastic, excellently complements the side case carrying system, and is ideally connected between the side case and the back of the bike. By fixing it on the opposite side to the muffler, the empty space is used in the best possible way and it creates additional storage room. With a length of 29cm and a width of 8cm, both tools and replacement parts can be accommodated whilst saving space. The toolbox has a quick-open screw top. The universal version can be attached in other positions too.

ALU STANDARD

For everyday use and extreme situations

With the Alu Standard collection, we have created models that also stand up to extreme conditions with no trouble at all. The 1.5 mm thick, smooth, highly durable aluminum alloy helped give the collection its name.

With their right-angled shape, Alu Standard side cases provide spacious, practical storage space with no protruding corners or edges and are easy to load from above. The foam lid seal keeps the content of the case or top case dry. The different widths side cases can be combined for Enduro bikes.

Especially recommended for side carriers that have different mounting widths due to the high exhaust system position typical of Enduros. The Enduro set can eliminate this asymmetry.

GOBI

The answer to every question

If you want to go on new trails, you have to leave the old paths. After 25 years of motorcycle case development and production, the GOBI is the answer to every question. The goal was to create a real alternative to the ordinary aluminum case. And with the GOBI series, we've succeeded! If an aluminum case drops, it usually gets damaged. That reduces its functionality. The GOBI is made of highly impact-resistant plastic, colored through and through. Its special shell is extremely resistant and watertight, and it absorbs shocks and unintentional contact with the ground. GOBI gets its stiffness and stability from its double-wall construction. This also allows over 3.5 quarts of liquid to be stowed in each side compartment.

JOURNEY / JUNIOR TOP CASE SERIES

The practical storage space for your motorbike

Within our Topcase series you can choose from a wide range of sizes from 29 to 55 litres capacity and different versions with and without covers. Whether for the scooter or as additional storage space on the tourer - we have the right topcase for every need. Combined with a Hepco&Becker rear rack tube type or an Alurack/Easyrack top case carrier, the top cases are securely fastened and cut a fine figure on your motorcycle even without a side case. If your bike is already equipped with an external supplier rack, we also offer top case versions with a universal adapter plate (top case pallet). For all Journey topcases there is room for at least one helmet and more. The shells are made of high-quality, impact-resistant plastic. 100% waterproof due to circumferential rubber seal and overlapping of the shells. Useful accessories such as backrests, railing and inner bags available.

XCORE

Stylish travel companion for any weather

Whether you're going on holiday in bright sunshine or on an excursion in light drizzle, your luggage stays dry and safe in the Xcore side case. It's a pleasure to be well-equipped when travelling along country roads or exploring new regions.

ORBIT SIDE CASE

Be different

Following the „Be different“ motto, we have created an innovative product for the motorcycle industry with the new Orbit side case.

A striking accomplishment at first glance, furthered with closer inspection, one can notice its distinct design cues. The Orbit side case is the perfect choice whether you have to run an errand or take a weekend trip. The case differentiates itself from other side cases due to the modern look. The All-In-One design concept combines a lid and retainer lock which makes handling very easy and allows to the contents to be locked safely.

The Orbit SC must be combined with the C-Bow carrier for your specific bike. Without the cases, the C-Bow Holder remains unobtrusive on the bike maintaining the look. Obligatory at Hepco & Becker: 100% waterproof!

The elegant classic with a high-quality appearance

A classic of the highest quality! These elegant retro bags hark back to the leather suitcases of generations past. The Strayker case is not made of leather, but of high-resistance, watertight soft-feel material with a leather look that holds its shape excellently. With its color-contrasting corner applications made of enameled plastic, it is a true highlight for any roadster and a real alternative to hard-shell cases. Off the bike, it also looks great as an everyday briefcase. It has plenty of space for A4 folders or a laptop.

It is made of robust and resistant EVA material, which gives the Royster Neo bag its dimensional stability. The front is covered with abrasion-resistant polyester 1200D. The back panel is coated with polyurethane in „Diamond Shape Optics“. This increases the dirt resistance and makes cleaning easier.

Its light weight makes the bag very handy and allows it to be carried easily thanks to a functional handle. Water-repellent on the outside, the contents are protected by an additional, waterproof and removable inner pocket. The volume can be increased by 1.5 litres thanks to the all-round zip.

STREET

The bag with understatement

The redesigned STREET softbags for our HEP&B C-Bow side carriers not only look good, but they are sturdy and the contents are easily accessible. We gave the bag a minor facelift in 2020, but rest assured: different design, same quality!

Not too bulky, but the compartment capacity is definitely roomy enough for a weekend trip. The bags can withstand a brief shower, while the waterproof inner pockets will keep the contents dry during longer downpours.

Our system with the C-Bow carrier has a decisive advantage over the conventional fastening with straps under the seat: the theft-proof and secure attachment with a locking mechanism on the C-Bow carrier. No slipping, no hanging down; they retain their great shape.

Made from robust and tear-resistant polyester fabric. The back panel is reinforced with PU, resistant to dirt and water-repellent.

The contents are protected with an additional, waterproof inner lining.

XTRAVEL TAIL BAG XL

Explore & Travel - Xtravel

With a generous packing volume of 50 litres, the new soft bag is perfect for longer trips. Thanks to the integrated compression straps, it can be securely fastened to the motorbike even with less luggage. A spacious, waterproof inner pocket made of polyester with the tried-and-tested roll-top closure keeps things dry when riding in the rain. The water-repellent outer material with inner coating and the covered zips mean that even short rides through light rain are easily managed.

There is a zipped mesh pocket in the lid of the bag for storing items requiring quick access. Two additional external pockets are quickly accessible through zips and offer additional packing volume. The zips to the main compartment are lockable. It is securely fastened with a reliable 4-point tensioning strap. LOCK IT TANKRING - FIDLOCK PATENTED

Innovative tank bag attachment

The Hepco & Becker tank ring for fastening tank bags to the motorcycle is a big advance for attaching tank bags to the motorcycle. The problems associated with positioning the tank bag are eliminated by magnetic centering. The side ribs attached to the magnets also mechanically secure the tank bag. When the lock is released, the poles of the magnets match and the tank bag is released from the attachment.

The tank bag's base plate shields the magnetic field of the tank ring's two permanent magnets, so that credit cards and electronic devices cannot be damaged. Simple and effective for more than 200 models; can be attached to the original fuel cap.

RUGGED CHEST LEATHER CASE

Rugged Chest leather case – your rugged companion with character

Genuine, honest, and unique – this leather case is like a good friend. The treasure chest made of 3.5 mm thick cowhide leather for choppers and cruisers can definitely do more than just a regular luggage bag. It is a piece of individuality for your bike – and also equipped with many useful functions. It offers enough space for your helmet and can be locked with an integrated lock. The overlapping lid protects the inside from splashing water. As befits an authentic case, it has no zips, but rustic flaps, seams and loops. Angular, square or striking? Retro or new? It is not advisable to pigeon-hole the Rugged Chest leather suitcase. It is the way it is – and that is exactly what makes it perfect.

The tail bag is available in two mounting versions:

1. For individual mounting:

Includes quick lock for mounting to almost any rear rack. The quick locks are fastened by the customer. The fastener set and instructions are included.

NOTICE FOR LEATHER BAGS

Leather bags are available in different versions and equipment. To help you choose, we present the possibilities here.

HOME INSTALLATION

Leather bag for leather bag holder – optional with holding clamps

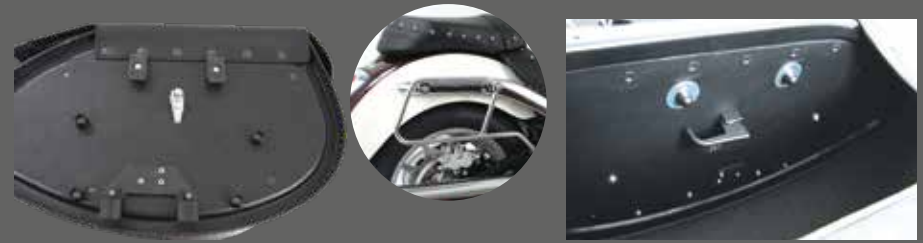

Designed for home installation with a fastening set for attachment to the bag holder (leather bags cannot be removed). This requires holes to be drilled in the back wall of the leather bag.

NOTE: The leather bag matches only the bag holder it is attached to. Once the holding clamps are installed, a leather bag can no longer be changed.

Holding clamps, for self-assembly
Item-no. 700429

FACTORY INSTALLATION

Leather bag for leather bag holder-optional with quick lock installed at the factory

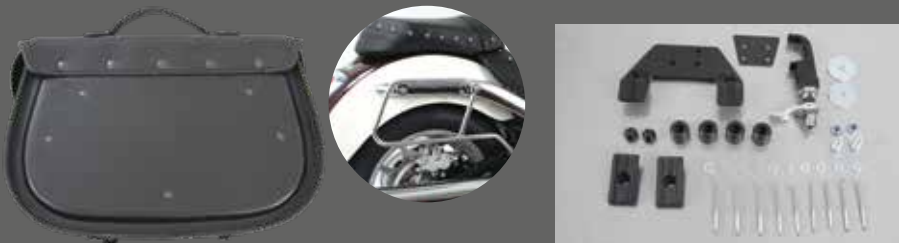

Another option when using a bag holder is our factory-installed quick lock. It allows the leather bag to be removed from the bag holder at any time. The lock also locks inside the bag to deter theft. The leather bag and bag holder are ordered together and installed in pairs.

NOTE: The leather bag matches only the bag holder it is attached to. Once the quick locks are installed, a leather bag can no longer be changed.

Quick lock, factory fitted
Item-no. 700402

Leather bag for leather bag holder – optional with quick lock

Another option when using a bag holder is our quick lock at additional charge for home assembly. This allows the leather bag to be removed from the bag holder at any time. Moreover, the lock works from inside the bag, securing the bag from theft. Home installation is very complex.

NOTE: The leather bag matches only the bag holder it is attached to. Once the quick locks are installed, a leather bag can no longer be changed.

Quick lock, for self-assembly

C-Bow leather bags for C-Bow holder

We recommend the leather bag's C-Bow version (if a C-Bow leather bag holder is offered for your motorcycle). This requires no home installation and switching the model to a different motorcycle with C-Bow is no problem.

CARRIER SYSTEMS

For more than 1000 motorcycle models

After choosing the case or bag, it's then a question of how to fasten them to the motorcycle. There are a variety of different attachment systems for this. On the following pages we present you with the luggage attachment possibilities. You can find out whether we also supply this for your motorcycle in the price list or keep up to date on the website.

We therefore provide different carriers not only for current models but also for youngtimers and motorcycles that are more than 30 years old. This has now exceeded 1000 models.

LOCK-IT SYSTEM SIDE CARRIER

The functional side carrier

BMW R 1250 GS

Outstanding fit – every carrier is adapted precisely to the motorcycle model. This means that the carrier fits the motorcycle exactly. During design, all model-specific characteristics are considered, such as the helmet and seat lock, turn signals, exhaust pipe height, etc.

Manufactured from steel tube, which is reinforced with a special inner tube at heavily strained places. A special feature of the Lock-It side carrier is the ability to remove them in seconds.

- Removal in seconds with Lock-It screws
- Theft deterrence available with Lock-It lock
- Motorcycle's look not disturbed by removed bracket; retaining tabs that remain are unobtrusive.

SIDE AND COMPLETE CARRIER FIRMLY BOLTED

The sturdy side carrier

This type of side racks are firmly bolted to the motorcycle. Especially for Enduro-models, this is often the better choice compared to removable carrier systems when used in rough terrain.

A special form of the case carriers are the complete carrier, consisting of a side-mounted case carrier and a rear rack as a possible top case carrier. Both can only be mounted together.

Common to all versions is the solid construction made of precision steel tube, which is reinforced with a special inner tube at highly stressed areas.

Even sitting on the motorcycle is easier when you can fold the bracket down. Every Easyrack is developed for the specific model and fits beautifully into the motorcycle's overall look. Production from premium aluminum gives the rack great strength and an elegant look. The rack design integrates additional luggage with belt fastening points for attaching luggage rolls, etc.

The bags are attached securely to the motorcycle and stay in position even when loaded.

On many models, the turn signals stay in their original position.

LOCK-IT TANKRING - FIDLOCK PATENTED

Innovative tank bag attachment

Underside of a tank bag with matching counterpart to the tank ring

The Hepco & Becker tank ring for fastening tank bags is a big advance for attaching tank bags to the motorcycle. The problems associated with positioning the tank bag are eliminated by magnetic centering. The side ribs attached to the magnets also mechanically secure the tank bag. When the lock is released, the poles of the magnets match and the tank bag is released from the attachment. The tank bag's base plate shields the magnetic field of the tank ring's two permanent magnets, so that credit cards and electronic devices cannot be damaged.

LOCK-IT HOLDER

Secure attachment for rear bags

Principle of operation:

Attaching of tank bag:
Opposite poles attract each other

Removal of tank bag:
Same poles repel each other

The Lock-it principle of the tank ring is also applied when fixing our tail bags or day packs to sport and mini racks. A special Lock-it tail bag holder with magnets on the tank ring can be fitted to this rack.

For the Royster rear bag Lock-it and the Street tail bag for sport racks, this tail bag holder is within the scope of delivery.

We provide a retrofitting set for Royster and Street day packs.

UNIVERSAL TOP CASE FASTENING

Secure attachment for top cases

Your motorcycle may already have a rear rack. If that is the case, why not mount a Hepco & Becker top case? There are universal mounts for those wanting this solution.

You have the following three options:

1. H&B Top case models including universal pallet: Due to the boring pattern, this enables mounting on existing rack constructions of the manufacturer. Pallet and mounting material are included in the kit. The following topcases are available as a universal version: Journey TC 30/40/50 as well as the Orbit TC 54.
2. Universal Alu/Easyrack or Rear rack tube type construction: universal solution for carrying every Hepco&Becker top case. These products must be mounted on existing base carriers.
3. An assembly of a universal rack is not possible: Then you will certainly find a specific solution in our model list.

SPORTTRACK

Carrier system for Soft Luggage

The problem of luggage transport on sporty motorcycles with short rear ends is well known: How and where can the luggage be reliably secured?

Hepco&Becker has the right solution for this: the Sportrack. This is simply clipped into place instead of the passenger seat and is therefore securely anchored by using the original motorcycle key. The seat bench can be exchanged for the Sportrack without any tools if necessary. A further advantage: The baggage is placed directly behind the driver in a streamlined and centre-of-centre-optimised position.

With passion and commitment, we took on the challenge of stainless steel and fully mastered it.

Our stainless steel series offers you more ways to upgrade your motorcycle with Hepco & Becker products. Those who love stainless steel will make a great find among our cross-brand offerings, and will get a high-quality, very durable premium product. When it comes to protecting a motorcycle, stainless steel products have obvious advantages.

The blasted, electropolished surface ensures a visually and technically excellent finish, and makes the guard more resistant to rust. Your bike has an upgraded design, look and feel, and it is protected against damage to the fairing or engine. From an ecological point of view, stainless steel is much more environmentally friendly than other common materials, such as aluminum or carbon, and is even 100% recyclable.

SPECIAL ACCESSORIES

SPECIAL NOTES For leather bag holder tube type only.

Versions for self-mounting

Leather bags for saddle bag holder - fixed mounting for self-assembly
Self-assembly version with fastening set for fixed mounting on the saddlebag holder (saddlebags cannot be removed). Holes must be drilled in the back of the saddlebag.

Fixed mounting fastening Self-assembly	700429	piece

Leather bag for leather bag holder - optional with quick lock for home installation
Another option when using a bag holder is our quick lock at additional charge for home assembly. This allows the leather bag to be removed from the bag holder at any time. Moreover, the lock works from inside the bag, securing the bag from theft. Home installation is very difficult.

------------------------------	--------	-------

Versions fixed and ready assembled

Leather bag for leather bag holder - optional with quick lock installed at the factory
Another option when using a bag holder is our factory-installed quick lock. It allows the leather bag to be removed from the bag holder at any time. The lock also locks inside the bag to prevent theft. The leather bag and bag holder have to be ordered together and installed in pairs.

quick lock incl. factory installation	700402	piece
---------------------------------------	--------	-------

NOTE: For all versions, the leather bag matches only the bag holder it is attached to. Once the quick locks are installed, a leather bag can no longer be returned.

C-Bow leather bag for C-Bow leather bag holder

We recommend the leather bag's C-Bow version (if a C-Bow holder is offered for your motorcycle). This requires no home installation and switching the model to a different motorcycle with C-Bow is no problem.
